

September 17th is Constitution Day

September 17th is designated as Constitution Day to celebrate the signing of the U.S. Constitution by the delegates of the Constitutional Convention on September 17, 1787. In recognition, Congress has mandated that every educational institution receiving federal funding continue to educate the community about this seminal document.

Students are encouraged to learn more about the U.S. Constitution by viewing an official transcription of the US Constitution and by exploring additional information available through the National Constitution Center.

The U.S. Constitution: Analysis and Interpretation app is a mobile version of the "Constitution of the United States of America: Analysis and Interpretation", a comprehensive analytical legal treatise prepared by attorneys of the Congressional Research Service at the direction of the United States Senate and issued as Senate Document No. 112-9.

The app is presented by the Library of Congress using data provided by the Government Printing Office and:

- delivers the full text of "Constitution of the United States of America: Analysis and Interpretation"
- contains a clause-by-clause discussion of the entire Constitution
- discusses all Supreme Court cases and selected historical documents relevant to interpreting the Constitution
- lists all federal, state, and local laws struck down by the Supreme Court, and all cases where the Court overturned its prior precedent, and
- contains a table of contents, table of cases, and an index.
